Miss Ruth Robinson and Miss Esther Langley, students at Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., arrived in the city this morning for the holidays.

Mrs. Sarah O. Huntington, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. B. Jackson of the Montpelier road, returned to-day to her home on Highland avenue.

All the children of the Baptist Sunday school who are to take part in the Christmas concert are requested to meet at the church to-morrow (Saturday) at 2 o'clock for rehearsal.

Charles E. Wood of Kirk street left this morning for St. Albans, where he will make a brief visit with friends before going to the home of his brother in Franklin, where he expects to remain indefinitely.

To-night at the Congregational church Rev. H. B. Rankin of Newport will give a lecture on immigration, under the title of "A Day at Ellis Island," the lecture being given under the auspices of the boy scouts. Admission for adults, 25c; for students, 10c.

Prof. Elmore announces that he will conduct a 3-acting class for pupils from 9 to 15 years old after Christmas, the exact date to be announced later. Those wishing to join the class are asked to notify Mr. Elmore at Howland hall Monday afternoons at 4 o'clock.—adv.

To-night the management of the Pavilion theatre has a treat in store for its patrons, an up-to-date cabaret show; regular performers and good music and singing. Several local artists will also appear. There will be a dandy six-part feature made by the Big Four, the producers of "Graustark" and "The Rosary." You cannot afford to miss this show.—adv.

James Smart of Glenwood avenue returned to the city early yesterday from an extended western trip, which carried him to San Francisco, Cal., where he was one of three delegates representing the granite cutters' union at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Returning east, Mr. Smart proceeded by easy stages, visiting several granite centers en route through the middle western states and stopping for a few days at Quincy, Mass.

Yesterday was a bitter day on the hills of Williamstown, roads badly drifted, wind and snow blowing a gale, but the J. M. Stone estate auction sale went along just the same. People were there from Massachusetts, New Hampshire, northern and southern Vermont, aside from the local crowd who were on hand. Registered Jersey cows sold from $80 to $325; the herd bull brought $125, yearlings, calves, hogs and horses brought fair prices; yoke of oxen brought $157.50, hay in the barn $13.25 to $14.50, farm tools and machinery sold fairly well. C. F. Smith, auctioneer.

Keen interest is being manifested in the Italian colony in the approaching revival of the drama by the Circolo Filodrammatico, which is to present "Espana-dione di Giovanni Salvemini," in the opera house Saturday evening. "The Expulsion of John Salvemini" is another way of spelling the title of the piece and for several weeks some of the best amateur actors in the circle have been rehearsing for the production. Some unusually striking scenic effects have been promised and there will be plenty of music between acts. Afterward an engaging little farce, "In Egitto," will be played by members of the filodrammatic circle. Parts for the heavier piece have been retained as printed in The Times a few weeks ago, and the following cast will present the farce: "Felice Sgrugnati," Fiorindo Franz; "Carlo," Vincenzo Osola; "Fioretta," Fiorina Bottiggi; "Paolo," Masello Ladimiro; "Mocammed," servo arabo, Francesco Cardil.

TALK OF THE TOWN

As Mrs. Estella Farrar has purchased a business in Massachusetts, her stock of goods at the Paria Shirtwaist House must be sold by Dec. 26. Private sale mornings, auction Saturday. See page 7 for adv.—adv.

The condition of James Daniels, son of Alexander Daniels of North Main street, who was seriously injured in an accident at the Granite street plant of Marr & Gordon Wednesday, was reported to be more comfortable to-day.

Sessions in all city schools were suspended this afternoon for the annual Christmas vacation of two weeks. Out of town students and members of the faculty planned to leave the city by late afternoon or to-morrow morning. The schools will be reopened on the morning of Monday, Jan. 3.

Owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. Edgar Crossland, who is attending an international conference at Clark university in Worcester, Mass., the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church Sunday will be occupied by Rev. James McInnes, who was recently assigned to missionary duty in the lumber camps of New England. Rev. Mr. McInnes will conduct services in the morning and evening at the usual hours.

M. A. Mann, who has been stopping at Hotel Barre while passing several days in the Barre granite belt in the interests of a firm in Columbia, S. C., has returned to Columbia. During his stay in Barre, Mr. Mann obtained a number of ideas relative to the manufacturing and quarrying industry, ideas which he will submit to his firm. He also contracted with local firms for machinery that is to be used in equipping a manufacturing plant and quarry in the South Carolina granite district.

Woman's Club Notes.

The civic department of the Barre Woman's club will hold a rummage sale in the emergency room, city hall, Saturday, Dec. 18, from 2 to 5 p. m. Club members are asked to contribute. Donations from others gratefully received. Remember for Christmas cheer. Contributions can be left at Mrs. Shepard's store and at the emergency room after 1 p. m. Saturday.

Special Winter Rates.
